

Announcing CareerConnection, Too

CareerConnection, the largest and oldest networking and career management organization in the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex and King of Glory Lutheran Church in Dallas are excited to announce a joint initiative called CareerConnection, Too.

The CareerConnection, Too mission is to help all professionals —from entry level to senior executives — better manage their careers through a wide variety of educational and informative programs and services.

Every Tuesday evening starting October 13th, members meet for an evening General Session and various workshops and special programs. They will also have the chance to interact with other professionals and participate in exercises that will improve skills and career prospects.

CareerConnection, Too offers all members support and confidentiality in a structured, professional setting. Those interested in furthering their career or facing a career transition can greatly benefit from regular, active participation in CareerConnection, Too.

With networking as our primary focus, CareerConnection, Too will continue developing strong relationships with area companies, trade and professional associations, as well as civic groups and social networks throughout the Metroplex.

Join us Tuesday from 6:30 PM to 9 PM, and see how we can enhance your job search, — just as we have the searches of over 50,000 other Dallas and Fort Worth Job Seekers.
